

DAVIDSON COLLEGE

This is the photograph of a little over one-half of the Davidson men at Fort Oglethorpe

Other Davidson men who have finished college have entered other training camps and every arm of the service.

These men are offering their lives for their country. The President, the Secretaries of War and Navy, the Council of National Defense, all call on men under twenty-one or others at liberty because not drafted into the national service to immediately enter school, college and university to prepare themselves to take the places of these intellectually trained men who have gone to the front.

Read the two testimonials in the second column (among many on file), of men who know Davidson College, and send your boy there where he will be trained in body, mind and soul for true Christian leadership to serve the world in its days of necessary rebuilding.

Our soldiers and sailors will make the world "safe for democracy"—our younger men must be trained to make "democracy safe for the world" by making democracy Christian. It calls for Christian leadership of the finest order and that leadership must be prepared under sound Christian influences. Investigate Davidson. Military training during the war. Drill by thoroughly equipped officer. Course in military science offered for upper classmen. Students will be prepared for any eventuality under Christian influences.

TESTIMONIALS

Union Theological Seminary,
Richmond, Va.

To parents who know something of the perils to faith and character which abound in many modern colleges, it ought to be cause for deep satisfaction and thankfulness that we still have institutions like Davidson where Christian faith, high ideals and thorough work go hand in hand. No college known to me surrounds its students with a more wholesome moral atmosphere, or gives them more direct or positive help in their spiritual culture, or employs more thorough methods of intellectual discipline, or turns out a better product. I have for many years been in the closest touch with large numbers of the graduates of Davidson and know whereof I speak. There is, in my judgment, no better college in the land, and none more deserving of a large patronage and a generous financial support.

WALTER W. MOORE, D. D., LL., President.

United States Naval Academy,
Annapolis, Maryland.

There is no better way of strengthening the reserve resources of our country than by keeping our colleges and universities at the maximum of attendance and efficiency. Davidson College is and has always been a nursery of individual character and of national efficiency. To aid it with men or money is to strengthen the soul and sinew of our country.

C. ALPHONSO SMITH, LL. D., Head of Department of English.

There will be no reduction of teaching force in the College on account of the war. Its thoroughly equipped and experienced Faculty will be on duty as last year, and two additional instructors have been secured for the coming session. Every student will be given careful attention and instruction.

All communications gladly answered. Catalogue on application to Registrar, Davidson College, Davidson, North Carolina.
